

Privacy Policy

Floze (developed by Seetek Limited, hereinafter referred to as “the Company”) processes users’ personal data in the services provided on this website (hereinafter referred to as “the Services”) as follows. We will establish a Privacy Policy (hereinafter referred to as “this Policy”). By using this website, users agree that Floze has the right to collect, use, and disclose users’ personal data in accordance with the provisions of this Policy.

■ Purpose and Categories of Personal Data Collection

The Company may collect your name, contact information (including but not limited to telephone, E-MAIL, and address), service unit, job title, information required to complete collection or payment, IP address, and other personal data that can directly or indirectly identify users, depending on the nature of the services provided, for purposes including marketing, customer management and service, and other e-commerce services, fulfilling statutory or contractual obligations, protecting the rights and interests of parties involved and related stakeholders, post-service, and operation according to the business registration project or organizational charter. In addition, to improve service quality, the Company will record the user’s relevant information and browsing activities within the website based on the nature of the services provided, but this information is only for traffic analysis and online behavior investigation to improve the service quality of the website, and this information is analyzed in aggregate and is not connected to specific individuals.

■ Utilization of Personal Data

All personal data collected by this website that can identify users are only provided to the Company for processing and use internally or with related enterprises according to the collected purposes. Unless otherwise stated, or for the necessity of providing service fulfillment or contractual obligations, or in accordance with relevant legal regulations or orders from competent authorities, the Company will not provide personal data that can identify users to third parties (including domestic and foreign) or use it for purposes other than the collection purposes. During the contract effective period and the statutory retention period, the Company will continually store, process, and utilize relevant data.

■ The personal data collected by the Company may be processed and stored in other countries, using equipment legally utilized by the Company. By providing the personal data to the Company, you also consent to its transfer abroad for such use. Simultaneously, you agree that the Company’s partnering institutions providing services can share your personal data. The services may include data storage, payment processing, etc. These third parties will only receive the information necessary for the specified service; the information will be stored and protected according to the principles followed by the Company, and it cannot be used for any other purpose.

■ When you choose to use third-party social media, like logging in via Facebook or Gmail, your social media provider (such as Google and Facebook) will provide us with some information about you, such as your Facebook user ID number.

■ Data Security

The Company will maintain the security of personal data with reasonable technology and procedures that comply with industry standards. Only authorized personnel of the Company can know your personal information and are responsible for confidentiality. If required by law and deemed necessary to disclose to maintain rights, Floze reserves the right to disclose and transmit users’ personal data.

■ Cookies

To facilitate users, this website may use cookie technology to provide more suitable services for users’ personal needs; cookies are a technology used by website servers to communicate with users’ browsers, and they may store certain information in users’ computers. This website will read the cookie data stored in users’ computers. Users can cancel or restrict this function through browser settings, but it may result in the inability to use some website functions.

■ Impact

Depending on the nature of the services, for related services to be smoothly provided, or for related transactions to be smoothly completed or fulfilled, if you are unwilling to provide the personal data required by the respective services or transactions to the Company and agree for the collection, processing, utilization, and international transfer of such personal data according to legal provisions, this Privacy Statement, and related notices, the Company will respect your decision. Still, depending on the nature or conditions of each service, you may not be able to use such services or complete related transactions, and the Company reserves the right to agree to provide such related services or complete related transactions.

■ Rights of Data Subjects

Data subjects may request to inquire or review their personal data or request a copy, but the Company may charge necessary costs and fees. If your personal data changes or is found incorrect, you can request the Company to modify or correct it. When the purpose of collecting personal data disappears or the period expires, you can request deletion, suspension of processing, or utilization of personal data. However, this does not apply where the execution of duties or business by the Company is necessary.

■ Right to Amend

The Company reserves the right to amend this Privacy Statement and related notices at any time and may post the revised statement in an appropriate position on this website without individual notification. You can view the revised Privacy Statement and related notices on this website at any time.